RIP American Journalism.

Goddamn, the media is so, so THIRSTY for Muslim blood. Notice they don't pull this shit with Robert Dear.

It's a sad day when not even FOX FUCKING NEWS...which makes their living pretty much hyping up how every Muslim is in ISIS...hasn't even stooped to this level.

I was watching ABC news this morning and they were saying how this is "the worst mass shooting ever" and how this

.This is a disgusting act, but the criminals being muslim makes it 100x worse in "instilled terror in a community" their eyes. the fact that we've had almost 1 mass shooting for every day of the year is very telling that their is a much bigger problem in this country.

It was the house of the terrorists. They were allowed to go inside so why not go inside?

I don't see any big deal here. The FBI already took what they wanted.

You all act like these reporters are the scam of the earth, the place belonged to the terrorist couple so the more we know about them the better.

I have no problem believing a scummy network like msnbc would do this but really cnn and the bbc just going along with it. Hope every one of those hacks get charged with tampering with evidence. The fact that someone bribe the landlord should have had any legitimate journalist move back and stand away while calling the cops.

Elizabeth Plank, a senior correspondent for Mic, a New York-based media company, said that the landlord had accepted $1,000 to let journalists in and likely did not get pre-approval from the FBI.

No wonder most Americans think the news is a joke.

Because like it or not, these monsters do deserve some privacy. Also, they just ruined the crime scene by tampering with the evidence.

Also, the cops or the FBI had nothing to do with it; some journo paid the landlord.

I know they're terrorists but really...I don't give a shit what they ate or how they chilled. The whole display was just tacky overall and now it's only going to make the media's bloodlust for people to go after Muslims more.

Is there any proof that they paid the Landlord?

You would think that they(FBI) would close down the whole place and put the "do not cross" tape around it but they didn't. They didn't warn the Landlord either. Why were they allowed to go inside the apartment but they weren't allowed to do the same with the garage where all the "dirty work" was done?

I'm more mad and disgusted at the fact that 14 people died, I would care less if they go inside the terrorist's house.

I don't think that people will go after muslims more just because of what the journalists did. They crime the terrorists committed is enough to accomplish that.

People, especially the media, have been thirsty for Muslim blood since Paris.

I'm pissed off over the 14 people dying as well, but this country gave up after not doing shit after 26 children were gunned down....

first, they were NOT given permission by federal authorities to go and check the crime scene. when asked, fbi claimed that the investigation was still ongoing:

I understand better now. This is bad only because they did it with the muslisms but not with the white kid who killed not only those children but his parents and himself too. Probably because the dead bodies were in the house nobody wanted to go inside?

Let's not turn every crime by non-white people into a racist problem just because of the way it's handled.

This thing is not the same as the other. There is proof that they supported ISIS and the fact that terrorism is happening everywhere only makes people more afraid and hateful of muslisms.

If that's what happened, they will receive punishment soon but the news I saw showed another thing like the Landlord opening the door for them, I didn't see anyone going against the Landlord's will.

If anything, everyone was in the wrong here. The FBI for not protecting the place, the landlord for allowing entrance and of course the journalists but what I read here is so different from what I see on tv. Something is missing. Still, I don't care after what happened...

of course, if you watch it on TV, they will report things completely different because they were the ones who barged in. or do you think msnbc would make a news story condemning themselves..?

Videos speak more than words. It was distasteful what they did and even worse IF they really went in against the Landlord's will or if they offered him money but there is no evidence of that -yet-. Also, it makes me laugh that you all are seeing this as the most despicable thing that has ever happened.
